PRESENTATION TO MR. AND MRS. R. GREEN

MISS MARY GRAY WEDS
MR. J. L. HOUBREGTS AT SIMPLE HOME SERVICE

A very happy event took place at the Greenhill Grill on Saturday afternoon last, when on behalf of the official staff of the West Canadian Collieries Ltd., Mr. G. A. Vissac, general manager of the company, presented Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Green with a beautiful silver tea service neatly engraved with the words: "Presented to Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Green, Blairstown, with esteem and affection, by the official staff of the West Canadian Collieries Limited, 1931."

In making the presentation, Mr. Vissac briefly reviewed the history of Mr. Green's association with the company, stating that he was the oldest member in active service with them, and the only member who has been with the company since its incorporation in 1903, 38 being employed as engineer at L'ile, later as mine superintendent, and since 1912 as general superintendent over Blairstown and Blairstown operations. Mr. Green's popularity was evidenced by the large turnout, and many expressions of regret were heard amongst the gathering.

In a very neat speech, Mrs. Green responded to the presentation, expressing appreciation for the beautiful tea service and regretting that it was necessary to break many ties of friendship that had existed since she first made her home in Blairstown. In his own infinite manner, Mr. Green followed with his thanks and referred to the pleasure he had had for many years past in being associated with the West Canadian Collieries' "family," stating that while he would be making his home in the city of Calgary, still he hoped that he would have many opportunities of again associating with the members of the staff.

About eighty members of the staff of the Blairstown and Greenhill mines and of the head office assembled to wish God-speed to Mr. and Mrs. Green, who are leaving this week and for Calgary, after over a quarter of a century of residence here.

After drinking a toast to the health of the honored guests, the party joined in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows," and a touching half hour was spent in farewell handshakes and individual expressions of good wishes for the future.

In addition to the local officials of the company, there were present, Mr. Jules Charbonnier, vice-president, from Nice, France, and William Bird, travelling salesman from Regina.

Mr. and Mrs. Green will leave for Calgary by motor on Monday morning.

BARBO GOES FROM WEALTH TO POVERTY IN NEW FILM

From gorgeous creations, exquisite toilettes and lavish surroundings, Greta Garbo goes to threadbare costumes, unkemptness and squalor in "Inspiration," her latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer talking picture, which is playing at Cole's theatre, Blairstown, this week end.

The change is not a gradual one but comes with a dramatic suddenness as the central plot of the story reaches its crucial point.

The story was written especially for the Swedish star by Gene Markey and depicts a romantic episode in the life of a Paris model.

Clarence Brown directed the new Garbo film. Robert Montgomery heads the supporting cast which includes: Lewis Stone, Marjorie Rambeau, Beryl Mercer, Judith Vossell, John Miljan, Edwin Maxwell, Zelma Sears, Oscar Apfel, Jean Marsh and Gwen Lee.

The seventh annual session of the British Columbia conference of the United Church of Canada will open at Victoria on May the 12th.

Restless CHILDREN

CHILDREN will fret, often for no particular reason. But it's always Castor's Hardest as the world on the wrapper: mild and bland as it tastes. Its gentle action soothes a restless child, and surely a more powerful medicine.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It's been given the Queen's Award as often as you need. In cases of colic, diarrhea or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. A single dose of Castor's Hardest drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. When children don't eat well, don't feel well, or are upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed.

"I don't know what I can tell you about Nick," said Mrs. Maxwell, "but you don't need to tell me anything about Nick. Most ways he's good now, but he always did like a change now and then, and when a cold-blooded vamp like Miss Halliday gets hold of him, there's no knowing what'll happen. Why at the movies last Saturday I see a young fellow with a wife and baby just round by the nose by a woman no wickeder than her. And he set a lot of store by that wife too. The best o' them is chiseling in the hands of us women, you can bank on that. Of course I ain't meanin' anything personal about Mr. Maxwell."

Mary smiled. She tried to switch her off onto another subject by mentioning little Martha, but, as Gay once told Nick, no one could stop Julie when she got started. In fact, Mary's choice of subject was unfortunate, for Julie said:

"That's another thing. I suppose

Nick was tryin' to be polite, for he said somethin' about how good Miss Halliday was to do so much for—" Julie paused, and jerked her elbow toward the little girl who had slipped from Mary's lap and was amusing herself with a picture book. Julie lowered her voice. "Now I hope to die, Mr. Maxwell. If this ain't the truth: If Miss Halliday is the way that child would act if the poor, I got ears in my head as well as eyes, and what I don't hear ain't worth hearin'; but she said to Nick, so sweet soundin' it would ha' made honey taste like vinegar! I look upon it as a privilege, Mr. Hastings—this chance to do something for a little child."

John Maxwell once said that Julie Nippa was a loss to the stage. His wife thought of it now, as her caller raised innocently truthful eyes to an imaginary Nick. Then she straightened up and her lips tightened as she added: "And there sat Nick, takin' it all in innocent as the baby takes his bottle which looks like not the wicked wickedest person in the world."

"Nick's awful traitor!" His uncle's the only ugly thing he ever run into, I guess, and he don't know much. I don't remember what he answered, but she began again and said somethin' kind o' high soundin' about the child makin' up to her for other disappointments. It sounded kind o' like a back-handed slap at Mr. Halliday.

"Disappointments!" That woman never had no worse disappointment than gettin' stuck with a coat that didn't match her eyes!

"Then she began to sing. It sounded awful pretty. I moved the curtain a mite and peeked out. Nick was sitting there on the steps below her looking for all the world like he'd been handed a first class ticket to Paradise. Nick's real handsome, and he looked handsomer'n ever just then. I couldn't blame Miss Halliday for fallin' in with him."

"Gosh, and I had half a mind to throw one o' them pumps at him to break the spell. But I didn't need to. Just that minute little Nick set up an awful howl. It was like things happen in the movies, Miss Maxwell—the child rousin' the father to his stern duty. Nick rose all right. He sprinted through that hole in the hedge like he'd been fired out of a shot gun; and now I'll tell you somethin' real realestain': Miss Halliday looked after him for a minute, and then she sort o' fell her hat at Gay's nursery window, where she'd been standin' on a chair, and what do you think she did? She said 'Damm' or my name isn't Julia Amanda Nippa!' Now what do you think o' that?"

Mary Maxwell smothered an hysterical laugh.

"Yet I was awfully ashamed," she said that evening, when relating the scene to John. "It was terrible of me to listen to all that gossip; but you know Julie—it's like trying to dam a flood to shut her off. And besides, I was worried about Nick. All our fears for him came back when she began her story."

"You must remember," replied John Maxwell, "that it was just the day before the boy's own friend Nickie would have been a devotee of the dime novel. She craves excitement, and invents it where none exists. She can smell a scandal long before it's born; but if she took Nick to task for hob-nobbing with Mrs. Halliday, I think she'd meet her match."

He chuckled; but Mary said soberly: "Just the same, Johnny, I think Mrs. Halliday is a dangerous wogian. I'm glad she's going back to Boston."

Mary Maxwell was not the only one who felt a sense of relief at the day that Angela Halliday and her numerous trunks, departed from Bakersville. Her husband, who was to stay a day or two longer in order to perfect certain plans for little Martha, was distinctly glad of her absence, a feeling that Gay who watched the departure was not alone in sharing. She can drive off, surprised her small son with an ardent hug.

"It's seem strange not to see Mrs. Halliday fussing around the garden," said Nick that night at supper. "I wonder that anyone so fond of growing things can endure a winter in the city. I thought she looked tired when she left."

"When she left?"

"I mean at the station. I ran down to see her off. In fact, she suggested it herself. She thought Halliday wouldn't have time to go with her, and there were a lot of trunks to check. She's rather used to being waited on, you know."

Nick had been looking at his wife he would have noticed an unfamiliar expression in her eye.

"Of course, if she is willing to beg for help, we shall all get it," she responded. "But there are some of us who'd rather check our own business than ask a man to leave his business to do it for us."

"But I didn't leave my business."

I wasn't coming home this noon anyway, you know, and I had lunch later in order to take in the train. However, as far as the trunks were concerned, I needn't have worried. Just that minute little Nick set up an awful howl. It was like things happen in the movies, Miss Maxwell—the child rousin' the father to his stern duty. Nick rose all right. He sprinted through that hole in the hedge like he'd been fired out of a shot gun; and now I'll tell you somethin' real realestain': Miss Halliday looked after him for a minute, and then she sort o' fell her hat at Gay's nursery window, where she'd been standin' on a chair, and what do you think she did? She said 'Damm' or my name isn't Julia Amanda Nippa!' Now what do you think o' that?"

Mary Maxwell smothered an hysterical laugh.

"What's the matter, old girl? Upset about anything? Your remarks sound just the least bit selene."

"Yes, I am upset," Gay confessed, rising, her color rising. "I don't know what I did. I've been asked to you have gone. It's been a different woman I wouldn't care; but she's the sort people notice and speak about. Most of our friends knew you were all right with her the time you came down with pneumonia—and you know how Bakersville can gossip. I don't care for their gossip, but if we're to live here—"

Nick threw an amused glance across the table.

"Why, my dear girl," Nick interrupted, "what do you mean? I never thought—"

"You don't think enough, Nick. That's the trouble. Because you love me you can't imagine that anyone could misconstrue your actions. But they do. Why even Julie—"

"Julie Nippa is a confirmed scandal monger," Nick said. "In a moment I'll call up Mrs. Maxwell and listen to anything she says. I believe it's she who's responsible for your unwarranted attitude toward Mrs. Halliday. The woman feels it, too. She said last night she wished you'd let her get nearer to you."

Gay lowered her eyes.

"I'm sorry you're ashamed of me," she said coldly, and at her voice Nick's good-humor, never long absent, returned. He arose, and going around the table, sat down on the chair, sat down on the chair, sat down on the chair.

"Oh, come on. Let's not get ruffed over a thing like this. Of course I'm ashamed of you that was just temporary. You all I have to be proud of, Gay—you and the kiddies. If I'd known you'd mind my going to the station I wouldn't have gone, of course. Personally I don't care what people say; but if you do, I'll be more careful. Here, kiss me. I believe we almost quarreled. It's ridiculous. Don't you know that there's only one girl in the world for me?"

He sang the last words, and Gay had to smile, even though the tears were not far off. It was seldom that they came even as near as this to having words, and such things hurt her. Nick would forget, but Gay, woman-like, would feel the scars for a long time. She winked back the tears, but the eyes she lifted were very bright, and Nick understood. He put an arm about her, and said, kissing her gently: "There's that's better. Not mad, are you?"

"Not mad," she answered. "Just—a wee bit frightened—that's all." "Frightened? At what?"

His train was fraught with astonishment; but Gay, managing something that was excellent imitation of a laugh, refused an answer.

Hospital Costs Advance

Charges Have Been Increasing Since

1913, Report States

An almost unbroken advance in hospital costs and charges between 1913 and 1929 are shown in a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The report is based on returns received from 198 hospitals in Canada. The rates charged in 1929 were 60 per cent higher than in 1926.

A general survey of the changes which occurred in 1929 indicates that the greatest increase in rates were for public wards. Semi-private room rates moved upward very slightly, while private room rates were shown as a little lower for the first time since 1913. Operating room charges remained the same. Attendant rates, the average cost of maintaining one patient per day advanced again, and was 110.4 per cent above the figure given for 1913. It is interesting to compare this advance with that registered by rates, which have apparently risen only by about 90 per cent according to the movement of a weighted average for the rate figures which follow.

An average of the public ward charges in 1929 increased to $1.02, as compared with $1.96 in 1928.

This item was $1.83 in 1928, and $1.02 in 1913, an almost uninterrupted increase having occurred since that time. Provincial average rates in 1929 ranged between $1.50 for Prince Edward Island, and $2.52 for British Columbia.

Jewish National Home

Lots Of Room For Jews In Palestine Says Lloyd George

Mr. Hon. David Lloyd George told the Jewish agency at a dinner in his home in London, England, that there is plenty of room in Palestine for the Jewish national home without rendering homeless any of its present inhabitants.

The mandatory power of Great Britain in Palestine, he said, "must discharge its functions with fidelity and resolution."

The dinner marked the opening of a campaign for funds to establish a colony in Palestine named for Mr. Lloyd George.

IMPORTANT RESOLUTIONS

At the recent annual meeting of the Alberta Educational Association convention, at Edmonton, the following resolution was passed:

1. Resolved that the A.T.A. petition the minister of education to suspend the certificates of all teachers who have been away from the teaching profession for five consecutive years or more, until such teachers have taken a refresher course at Normal School or Summer School.

2. Resolved that the Department of Education be asked to withdraw the loans to teachers in training for an indefinite period.

3. Resolved: (a) That the Provincial Government be petitioned and urged to take immediate steps to curtail the number of entrants of the normal schools during the forthcoming year; (b) That the Provincial Government raise the normal entrance requirements to that of Grade XII standing; (c) That the age of girl candidates for admittance to normal school be raised to that of boys, namely 18 years; (d) That the normal school period or training be lengthened; (e) That our department of Education be urged to endeavor to maintain a fair balance between the number of students admitted to normal schools and the possible requirements of the following year.

THIS HAPPENED SIXTEEN YEARS AGO

A much-needed and wondrously institution was organized here called the "Matrimonial Bureau," open only to bachelors or widowers or in other words "has-beens" who must hope for the worst. The first victim fell into the clutches of a committee of the whole on Friday morning, when after a careful survey of the district saw there was nothing doing outside of an old widow of seventy-two years, whose personal property included three hens, a tom cat, a pig, an ugly face and a worn out pair of pit shoes previously worn by a Coleman miner who skipped his board. The president, Capt. Beebe, suggested a compromise to bury the cat and throw in the shoes; but the candidate for matrimonial honor said: "No, I am doing this!" and, pulling a wad from his pocket, offered to buy up the whole. Palterer addition, the brewery and the old woman thrown in! An motion to adjourn was passed.

LETHBRIDGE TO ENTERTAIN C.N.P. GOLF TOURNAMENT

The Lethbridge Golf Club, hosts to the Crows' Nest Golf Association, have set May 23, 24 and 25 as the tournament dates.

The entry lists are open only to members who belong to clubs in the Crows' Nest area. This includes from Lethbridge on the east to Cranbrook on the west.

As the accommodation for play is limited, entries will only be accepted from this area, with one exception, that being Stavely, who have always been represented since the association was formed.

Indications already point to a record-breaking turnout. It is expected that at least two hundred men and women disciples of "swat" will be on the firing line.

Saturday, May 23, from 7 a.m. till 2 p.m., the men will try for their pars birdies and the odd eagle in an endeavor to catch a toe hold in the qualifying brackets.

At present the program allows for 80 men to qualify in five groups of 16's, according to medal score resulting from qualifying rounds.

The ladies will attempt to get into the elect play-downs by shooting nine holes, qualifying round Saturday sometime between 11:30 and 4 p.m. Saturday, also, there will be three hours of 16's to play down by match play.

Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 there will be mixed foursomes; 9 holes, low net with handicaps, and from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Men wishing to do so may play 2 ball foursomes 18 holes low net with handicaps.

There will be a dance in the Marquis for the visiting golfers from 9 to 12 Saturday evening.

Then Sunday and Monday all play will be match play in the flights. Those knocked out of the group of 16's will reform into 8's and continue play.

Sunday at 12 a.m. there will be stroke handicap 18 holes for men who did not qualify in the flights, and at 12:30 a.m. women who entered but did not qualify, may play 9 holes, stroke handicap.

Only those entering the tournament may play during the three days. This is because of the large entry always on hand and the clogging on the 18 holes available and the necessity of all scheduled games being started on time.

The program committee have used every minute of daylight available and the qualifiers for match play works out as indicated 8 men and 4 ladies.

The local club have hastened the completion of the club house addition and are in splendid shape to handle the visitors.

Lunches will be served in the canteen to those entering the tournament.

The annual meeting of the association will be held in the Marquis hotel the second day of the tournament.

Hotel reservations are already being made by some of the regulars from up the Pass, so the rush is on. —Lethbridge Herald.

THIS NOW SETS WORLD RECORD

Speaking of records, here's one for the swine family to shoot at. It is probably a record for the American continent, if not for the entire world and is claimed for a Yorkshire sow, owned by Samuel Pearce, a farmer in the Meeting Creek district, northern Alberta.

In less than three years this proud porker gave birth to 134 pigs. From May 3, 1928, when this sow gave birth to a litter of 11 pigs, the record is as follows: Oct. 10, 1928, 15 pigs; March 18, 1929, 23; Sept. 20, 1929, 18; March 18, 1930, 24; October 20, 1930, 21, and April 1, 1931, 22.

AN EDITOR'S PRAYER

The life of a policeman, a preacher and a newspaper man is not at any time a happy one. All three are subject to public criticism. Few, if any, desire to find their way to jail; none agree with the sermon delivered by the preacher, and we are certain that the ramblings of a newspaper are condemned. We are openly told so, but have become case hardened.

We have come to the conclusion that the fewer friends one has the better he is off. Someone wrote, "Lord, preserve me from my friends." As the years roll on we are convinced more than ever that it is the naked truth. Your enemies ask no favors, they get none, they expect none—but your friends—ah! that's the rub! A cop, a preacher and a scribe should have this for their motto: Be civil to all; serviceable to many; familiar with few; friend to one (your wife); enemy to none.

A Full-Time Job

"I suppose, if your son drives the car, you have to walk half the time."

"Yes, and the other half because my wife drives."

Still in the Game

The person (softly)—"Deacon Jones, will you lead us in prayer?"

But Deacon Jones was sleeping. So the person said a little louder:

"Deacon Jones, will you lead, please?"

Deacon Jones (coming to)—"Lead yourself, I just deaf."

A Dutch farmer who had a pig stolen from him accused the witness stand to identify the stolen property.

"Did that pig of yours have any earmarks?" asked the attorney for the defense. The Dutchman thought a while and then replied: "Well, de only ear-mark dat I remember was his tail vas cut off."

A visitor to a Sunday school was invited to address a few remarks to the children. He took the familiar theme of the children who mocked Eliasha on his journey to Bethlehem, how the young ones taunted the prophet and how they were punished when two bears came out of the woods and ate two of them. "And now, my children," said he, "what does this story show?" "Please sir," came from a little girl in the front row, "it shows how many children two bears can hold."

Two Negro soldiers were discussing the relative merits of their company buglers. Said one, "Fellah, when dat boy of ours plays call, it sounds 'zactly like de Boston Symphony playing de Rosary."

The second soldier snorted, "Brother," he said, "you ain't got no bugler a-tall." When Snowball Jones wraps his lips aroun' dat bugle an' plays mess call, I looks down at mah beans an' I see, 'Strawberries, behave! You is kickin' de whipped cream out of de plate.'"—Exchange.

WHEN AND HOW TO KISS

I have studied the methods of kissing for long.
And I know to my grief 'twixt the right and the wrong.
So being a practical hand at the game I shall give you some lessons today on the same.

Never kiss a man's wife, or, by jings if you do.
A terrible fate may be waiting for you,

And as co-respondent you may land some day.
Then heavy expenses you will have to pay.

Don't kiss any girl you know is engaged,

For many a young fellow this has enraged,

And, what's more to the point, if efficient in size,

You may get for your error two lovely black eyes.

Don't kiss any widows, except you're a flat,

For many a poor chap got landed through that,

As widows are fly, and great danger you run

Of being landed in trouble, as sure as a gun.

Never kiss a young girl in front of her Ma,

Or you may get the boot from an angry Papa,

And don't kiss the slavey in front of your wife,

Or a punishment dreadful awaits you for life.

And now as an expert some hints I'll reveal,

The sweetest of kisses are ones that you steal,

And the place you can do it without any dread

Ever the close or her mother's stairhead.

QUINT RULES FOR

2. When a passenger of the foot have in sight, tootle the horn trumpet to him melodiously at first. If he still obstacles your passage, tootle with vigor and express by word of mouth the warning, "Hai, Hai."

3. Beware of the wandering horse that he shall not take flight as you pass him. Do not extirpate the ex-hast pipe. Go soothly by him or stop by the side till he pass away.

4. Give space to the festive dog that make sport by the roadway. Avoid entanglement with your wheel-spoke.

5. Go soothly on the grease mud as there lurk the skid demon.

6. Press the brake of the foot as you roll around the corner to save the collapse and tie up.

GETS SYMPATHY, LOSES COIN

Jess Spurkin, like Balaam of old, had his troubles with mules and thereby received the sympathy of the supreme court of Arkansas for getting hurt.

But the court held, a mule will run away most any time, and Spurkin's employer, the Alaska Lumber company, provided him with mules which would not bolt while hauling logs. The ruling cost Spurkin $20,000 he had obtained in a verdict of the circuit court, which was reversed. The supreme court said:

"The kicking propensities of the mule is a matter of common knowledge. It is almost as universally recognized as the fact that a duck will swim or a cat will scratch. However, a duck cannot indulge his propensity without water, and ordinarily a cat will not scratch unless irritated or attacked."

But the mule requires no particular setting for the exercise of his high prerogative."

A RAILWAY CENTENARY

Hon. Dr. Manion's recent reference to the approaching centenary of steam railway enterprise in Canada is a reminder of the progress that has been made in railroading since that July day, in 1836, when the first train was run from Laprairie, on the St. Lawrence, to St. John's, Que., on the Richelieu—with the assistance of horses. There were about 16 miles of track, four passenger cars, each capable of carrying eight people, 20 freight cars capable of a 10-ton load, and an engine that weighed all of five or six tons and cost less than $7,500. Today the big 4-8-4 locomotives on the Canadian National weigh, approximately, 325 tons, and the value of one of these is in the neighborhood of $100,000. The railway from Laprairie to St. John's was incorporated in 1832, and commenced operation in 1836. On the same day a survey was begun, with the assistance of £10,000 voted by the Imperial Government, for a railway from Quebec City to St. Andrews, on the Bay of Fundy. But this survey encountered difficulties due to the disputed boundary line.

Meantime, in Upper Canada also, plans were afoot. In 1834, two railways were incorporated, the Cobourg and the London Gore. But the first actually built was from Toronto to Bradford, which commenced operations in 1833. Since that time development has been rapid. There are today in Canada about 41,500 miles of railway; the capital invested is over $8,150,000,000, nearly 190,000 people are employed, and there is a wage bill of $290,000,000.—The Ganganogue Reporter.

"What shall I do? I'm engaged to a man who simply can't bear children?"

"Well, you can't expect too much from a husband!"—Spruce Splinters.

"She's married now."

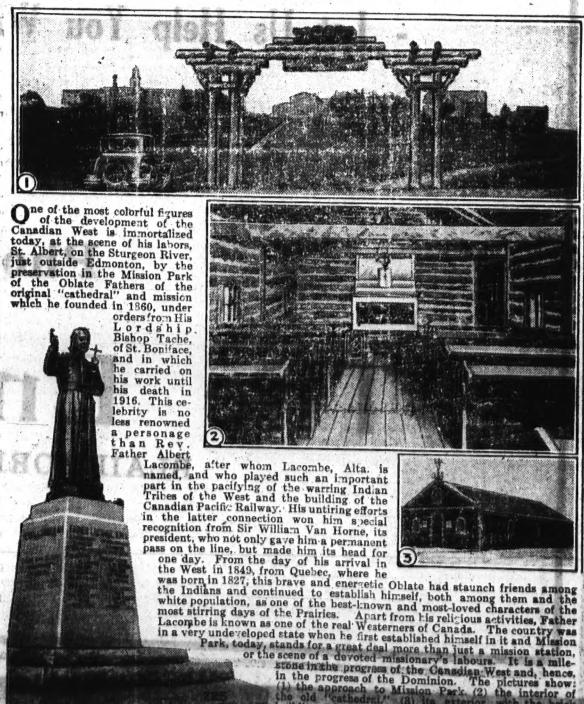

"Answer my question!"—The Guide Book.

The young son who had his leg fractured in a motor accident was told by the doctor that they were going to take him to the hospital.

Boy—"Oh, doctor, I don't want to go to a hospital."

Doctor—"Why, a hospital's a fine place—clean and convenient."

Boy—"But, doctor, I don't want to go there. I don't want a baby. I want a pup."

Immortalizing Pioneer Priest

One of the most colorful figures of the development of the Canadian West immortalized today at the gates of his home, St. Albert, on the Sturgeon River, just outside Edmonton, by the Oblate Mission Park of the Oblate Fathers, the original "cathedral" and mission which he founded in 1850, under orders from His Excellency Bishop Telmissany of St. Boniface, and in which he worked until his death in 1915. This cathedral is no less renowned a personage than Rev. Father Lacombe.

Lacombe, after whom Lacombe, Alta., is named, and who played such an important part in the pacifying of the warring Indian tribes of the West and the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway. His untiring efforts in the latter connection won him general recognition from Sir William Van Horne, its president, who not only gave him a permanent pass on the line but also a cabin for one day. From the day of his arrival in the West in 1849, from Quebec where he was born in 1827, this brave and energetic Oblate had staunch friends among the Indians and himself assimilated himself both among them and the white population, as one of the best-known and most stirring days of the Prairies. Apart from his religious activities, Rev. Father Lacombe became known as the "old man of the plains" and built a mission station there.

Thumb Sketches

ISN'T it positively wonderful how much our lives are shaped by the convention laws of society. We'll obey these to the letter and that's the only way out of breaking the written law. A man thinks nothing of disobeying a traffic signal but it would be a horrid thing to do it with a lady without removing his coat.

We're almost universally conservative—not politically speaking, of course—in our obedience to those traditional manners. We won't get married on the 13th, or move the broom with the rest of the outfit when we move from one house to another. And you've heard the ancient saying, "If a broom in May and you'll sweep a child away." So on may go on, and on and on. There is nothing in it of course, but it's something where in the back of our mind something tells us that we can do just as well on the next day. So the broom set on the 14th. The old broom wasn't worth anything, so we'll leave it behind; or the old broom is pretty good shape, but the purchase of a new one until the first of June.

So it is with precedence in the parade. It matters not whether the show is at the opening of parliament or merely into the dining room for dinner with an old-time friend.

And here we are again sometimes in favour of clinging to the old and honored usages of yesterday and sometimes in favour of clinging to the new and modern.

Hers, again, much depends upon the point of view. Edson, Alta., the secretary of the big Grain Show of 1932, would at once say that the chaff who wins a first place or a front seat in one of the grain classes against the competition of certain men in the household, will in addition receive a substantial pot of money for his labours bestowing her.

Oh, yes, one's attitude towards these ancient traditions depends upon one's viewpoint, and sometimes upon our own estimate of our own importance.

A private soldier, so the story goes, bought a ticket and entered a theatre to enjoy a pleasant evening. As he mounted the way up the aisle towards the stage an usher met him, saying, "You can't sit here. The seats are reserved for officers." As Tommy retraced his steps to find a seat in the rear of the back, while I came from wan't."

When I was a young lad at school the front seat was reserved for an entirely different reason, and there was everything but merit and honour attached to the occupancy of it at that.

Betty—"You embarrassed me at THE PASS SIXTEEN YEARS AGO (The Blairstown Enterprise, 1915)

Bill—"That didn't need to embarrass you. It wasn't my handkerchief anyway—it was my shirt."

SOVIETS FORBIDDEN TO PATRONIZE CANADA

MOSCOW, April 20.—M. Rosenblitz, people's commissar for foreign trade, issued an order Sunday forbidding all Soviet importing organizations and trade representatives abroad to buy any Canadian goods or use Canadian shipping.

The order was in response to the Canadian Government's embargo against Soviet-made goods.

The Canadian Government, the order said, explained its embargo against Soviet goods referring to the fact that Russia is not a signatory to the Versailles treaty. It added, however, that there were many countries which did not sign the treaty, including the United States and China, with both of which Canada maintained normal trade relations. The Canadian government's decision, therefore the order added, was "obviously aimed against the Soviet Government."

OTTAWA, Ont., April 20.—The embargo placed by Russia against Canadian goods was not unexpected here, although members of the government were unwilling Sunday night to make direct comment on the Russian decision. Six weeks ago action was taken by the Canadian government to ban imports of Russian coal, lumber and timber, wood pulp, pulpwood, asbestos and fur. Russian retaliation against Canada has been readily predicted since that time.

Between one and two billion dollars' worth of Canadian trade will be affected. During 1930, Canadian exports to Russia amounted to $1,689,000; while in the previous year the total was $3,403,000. The item most seriously affected will be agricultural implements, of which Russia has been a heavy buyer in recent years.

Canada's ban against Russian products was effected by order-in-council February 27.

A statement issued by Hon. E. B. Ryckman, minister of national revenue, at the time the ban was put into effect, declared "the government is convinced that there is forced labor in the cutting and transport of timber and the mining of coal, that political prisoners are exploited, that the standard of living is below any level conceived in Canada and that broadly speaking, all employment is in control of the communist government, which regulates all conditions of work and seeks to impose its will on the whole world."—Ex.

—TOTEM-POLETM CAMPBELL LOANED TO NEW YORK MUS.—U.S.

On his way to New York, where he will erect and reclaim two totem poles for The Museum of The American Indian, T. B. (Totem-Pole) Campbell, passed through Winnipeg last week.

Mr. Campbell, who is a member of the Canadian National Railway's Engineering staff, is the world's greatest authority on the carving of Indian totem poles, and for the last six years, has been engaged on the restoration of these ancient Indian relics along the Pacific Coast. When

The Museum of The American Indian at New York procured two poles from the deserted villages along the Nass River, Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, was approached, and granted the loan of Mr. Campbell's services to the museum until the poles were re-conditioned and erected.

The poles will be erected in the park surrounding the Museum at 155th Street and Broadway, New York City.

A Child's Essay

A teacher asked her class to write an essay on geese. This essay was turned in by an 8-year-old miss:

"Geese is a low, heavy set bird which is most meat and feathers. His head sits on one end and he sits on the other. He ain't got no between-his-toes and he's got a balloon in his stummock to keep him from sinking.

Some geese when they get big have curlics on theirs tails and is called ganders. Ganders don't have to sit and hatch, but just eat and loaf and go in swimming. If I was a goose I'd rather be a gander."

G. G. COOTE STRESSES NECESSITY FOR IMMEDIATE ACTION IN BELLEVUE AREA

OTTAWA, Ont., April 22.—The serious situation confronting miners at Bellevue, Alta., was drawn to the attention of the House of Commons Tuesday afternoon by G. G. Coote (U. E. A. Lib., Macleod).

At this mining camp, said Mr. Coote, men and their families were in actual want because of scarcity of work. He read letters received from the secretary of the Bellevue Mine Workers' Union, stating that the management of this mine had announced that a number of men must be laid off in the near future.

The Bellevue case was particularly serious, said Mr. Coote, because it might merely be the forerunner of other reductions in neighboring mining camps. If all the mines in the district followed the Bellevue example there would be a thousand men out of work. These men and their families would be absolutely without resources.

The department of labor should send a man to Bellevue to meet the men and representatives of the company to see that some employment was given. If the men must be laid off, provision must be made for their families. As soon as men were laid off, said Mr. Coote, their accounts at the stores were stopped.

Mr. Coote asked for action in what he considered was a very serious situation.

BRITISH LABOR PARTY SURVIVES CENSURE VOTE

London, England.—The government won its battle. The great crisis—the Conservative motion of censure—ended in a government majority of 54 on a vote of 305 to 251. But it was a victory for the electric Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, rather than a victory for the government's unemployment programme, forcefully set by Rt. Hon. Tom Johnson, Minister of Employment, presented it in the Commons recently.

The programme itself was received with some obvious disappointment by the Liberals. But the point taken up by Lloyd George—as he led the majority of his followers into the government lobby—was that the Conservative motion of censure was unjust and unfair until Mr. Johnson had been given a better chance. But Lloyd George's main point was what he called the danger of change in the vote.

The prime minister's strength, the Liberal leader caustically observed, "lies not in his front bench. It lies in the Conservative front benches." If the government were defeated, the Conservatives would be summoned to take office. Did that mean food taxes? Waving his arms down the long Conservative front bench, the "little Welshman" questioned: "Are they 'yes' men or 'no' men?"

The tattered garment of agreement between Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, and those who had been food had been patched and torn and patched so many times it looked like the pants of a tramp. Nobody knew what the fate of the Conservative party was.

"I don't think," he exclaimed, "it is fair to the country that we should transfer office to the Conservatives until we know definitely and clearly and unreservedly from Mr. Baldwin what he proposes."

From the Conservative benches came the taunt: "There's nothing less appetizing than a stale jibe."

"I heard that 40 years ago," responded the Liberal chieftain.

The gift of the Conservative motion of censure was to the government that failed to implement its election pledges with regard to unemployment.

Rt. Baldwin in opening the debate, quoted freely from Labor speeches made during the halcyon election days when Labor had dreamed dreams and seen visions. He spoke of the phantom ships of Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas' Canadian trip, and declared "the government had shown itself absolutely incapable."

Rt. Johnson spoke from a large pile of documents. Occasionally he stopped to read from a typewriter speech. He held that the government had carried out the major pledges of its official programme and argued that "Great Britain's unemployment problem had been intensified by increased migration to the Dominions."

He submitted the following additional unemployment proposals:

1. Assistance to rural housing.
2. Encouragement for the extraction of oil from coal.
3. Extension of the time for Russian credits from 12 to 18 months.
4. Encouragement of tourist traffic.
5. A study of electrification for British railways.
6. Reforestation.

May Meet In Arctic

Rendezvous Arranged Between Dr. Hugo Eckener and Sir Hubert Wilkins

Friedrichshafen, Germany.—A possible rendezvous in the polar regions between the son of Zeppelin and Hugo Wilkins' submarine "Nautilus" was forecast at the Associated Press by Dr. Hugo Eckener.

"It is quite possible that a flight into the Arctic regions may eventuate this year," said the commander of the dirigible. "It all depends on whether we can finance the proposed expedition. If so, I expect to personally command the Graf. In New York Wilkins and I agree to try to meet in the polar wastes."

Red Demonstration

Six Thousand Unemployed Battle With Police In Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Man.—Six thousand unemployed disrupted the usual quiet enthusiasm on city streets recently, when they clashed with officers of the law in one of the most serious demonstrations witnessed in the Manitoba capital in years.

Six demonstrators are in hospital as the result of the battle. More than a score of others are suffering from injuries, caused by the policemen's batons and flying missiles that broke store windows and damaged automobile hoods and street cars.

The struggle with the police occurred following a demonstration in front of the Legislative buildings as heads of the unemployed interviewed Premier John Bracken and placed their appeals before him. The 6,000 men attempted to parade homeward. Jeering of police started and several of the unemployed attempted to block street car and automobile traffic.

Suddenly, one demonstrator picked up a stone and hurled it at a policeman. It was the signal for battle.

Hand-to-hand pieces of combat taken from a road under repair, flew fast and thick. Policemen swung their batons on the bodies of the unruly as the missiles whizzed around them, crashing into store windows and automobiles. As the struggle waged, the demonstrators kept up a roar of boozing.

Men, bleeding around the head, rushed from the scene. Many others continued the struggle until the officers arrested several. Then the turmoil ended and the struggling mass of humanity drifted homeward in groups, singing the "Red Anthem" and cheering the Soviet regime.

Fast Telegraph Service

New Canadian National Wire Carries 9,600 Words Per Minute

Winnipeg, Man.—The world's greatest telegraph capacity for one pair of wires has been placed in service between Toronto and Winnipeg with the conclusion of experiments by the Canadian National Telegraph and the installation of a 24-channel carrier current system between Toronto and Winnipeg.

Giving a theoretical maximum telegraphic speed of about 9,600 words per minute the system is designed to take care of transmission needs between east and west for a number of years to come. It makes use of a double modulation principle by which two types of carrier system are superimposed on the other. One pair of wires between Toronto and Winnipeg is made, by the new system, to provide 24 trunk telegraph circuits.

Accidents On Streets In Britain Increasing

Records Show Daily Average Of Twenty Deaths During 1930

London, England.—Life on the streets of Great Britain is becoming increasingly dangerous. A daily average of more than 20 street deaths is recorded during 1930 by the home office.

Accidents caused by vehicles and horses during the year totalled 156,793, an increase of 4,992 over the previous year. There were 7,305 persons killed, 609 more than in 1929, and 177,895 injured, an increase of 6,978.

New York.—Major W. D. Herridge, new Canadian envoy to the United States, and his bride, the former Miss Mildred Bennett, sister of Premier R. B. Bennett, of Canada, departed for Europe after spending the first day of their wedding trip in New York.

The minister-designate said he would take up his new duties at the Canadian legation in Washington about June 1.

Britain Buys Russian Wheat

Report Shows Imports Increase For First Three Months Of Year

New York.—The New York Times published the following special cable from London:

"Evidence that Britain is buying more wheat from Russia, and the same from Empire sources, is contained in the board of trade figures for March, which fail to show signs of the anxiously awaited trade revival. The amount paid to Russia for wheat was almost ten times as great in the first three months of this year as in the corresponding period of 1930. The first quarter's import of Russian wheat this year totalled 5,784,947 hundred-weight, valued at $10,595,965, while in the first quarter last the Great Britain took only 321,912 hundredweight of Russian wheat, with a value of $177,500.

Tariff Advisory Board Promised

To Replace Old Board Which Was Abolished Last August

Ottawa, Ont.—Establishment by government of a commission to replace the old tariff advisory board which was abolished by order-in-council last August would seem to assume more definite shape in the light of promised legislation, by the inclusion of $120,000 in the estimates "to provide for salaries and expenses of the tariff board."

This is an amount similar to that voted annually for maintenance of the now defunct body.

In the Speech from the Throne the establishment by legislation of a board which would investigate matters relating to tariffs was promised.

CLAIM IS MADE ALFONSO DID NOT ABDICATE

Madrid, Spain.—Members of the former monarchial government said that Alfonso did not sign an actual document of abdication.

They still, however, will not reveal precisely what he did sign. The idea of abdicating in Madrid that Alfonso signed a final throne of Spain and may plan to return if future developments should seem to warrant it.

It was said that his exile was not likely to be embittered by poverty. If current reports are true he is one of the richest men in Europe, and foreseeing the possibility of loss of the throne, he had laid his plans accordingly.

The story goes that he not only inherited an immense fortune from his mother, Queen Christina, but himself possessed financial genius which led him to make many shrewd investments. It was also said that he had withdrawn most of his funds from Spain and reinvested them in British and other foreign securities.

Although there was no authoritative announcement that King Alfonso was headed for Great Britain, the present supposition is that he will go to London, England, and probably reside with his family at Kensington Palace, where his wife's mother, Princess Beatrice, lives.

Australia's War Payments

Amount Of Payment Of Australia To Britain To Be Reduced

London, England.—In response to a request from the Australian government to recognize the Commonwealth's financial difficulties, His Majesty's government has agreed to reduce the payments of Australia to Great Britain under the war debt agreement of 1919. The payments amount to approximately $10,000,000 per annum.

This is an amount similar to that voted annually for maintenance of the now defunct body.

In the Speech from the Throne the establishment by legislation of a board which would investigate matters relating to tariffs was promised.

"At least 30,000 French-Canadians will either be deported or returned to their native province of Quebec for the middle of next month, it is estimated. The drive is instituted to protect native labor.

"The immigration officials point out that the coming drive against aliens is not directed in any sense at any particular nationality or class."

Russian Coal

Statements Attributed To Canadian High Commissioner Are Questioned

Ottawa, Ont.—Statements attributed to Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in Great Britain, were read to the House of Commons yesterday by Mr. L. M. Lester, member for New Westminster, who wanted to know if they were official and bore governmental approval.

The former Ontario premier was quoted as saying that Canada placed a ban on Russian imports of coal because it had been found that country was competing with Wales in the Dominion market.

Mr. Reid understood Canada had referred to coal with Russia for the benefit of its own people and not for the benefit of Wales or Great Britain. No answer came from the government benches and the incident closed.

New Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta

Mr. Justice Walsh will retire from his present post on the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Alberta before taking over his new office. He succeeds Lieutenant-Governor Dr. W. E. Egbert.

The photograph reproduced above shows a view taken from the air of the heap of smouldering woodwork and twisted steel, all that was left of the "Royal Scot," world's fastest train, after it had jumped the rails at 70 miles an hour while en route from Boston to Glasgow and Bradford recently. The crash occurred at Leighton Buzzard, Bedfordshire, England, and six persons were killed and more than eighty injured.

Advocates Deflated Coin

Alberta Member Thinks Monetary Policy Of Canada Needs Change

Ottawa, Ont.—Business in Canada would improve materially if the Canadian dollar were allowed to depreciate to the level it reached at the close of the Great War, is the belief of George C. Coote, member of parliament for Macleod, Alberta.

Addressing an Ottawa service club, Mr. Coote expounded the theory that the monetary policy of the Dominion is in need of a change. "Deflation has been practised in practically all gold countries, resulting," he said, "in a disastrous fall in the price level of commodities." All industries in Canada are suffering today and it would be just to reasonably inflate prices as a corrective to excessive deflation.

Mr. Coote contended that a 30 per cent depreciation of the dollar in the Argentine and Uruguay had resulted in those countries taking the Canadian wheat market in Great Britain.

Reported Alien Drive In New England States Will Affect Many Quebec French

Montreal.—The Gazette publishes a despatch from Manchester, N.H., in part as follows:

"With the additional Federal officers at her command, Mrs. Anna C. M. Tillinghast, commissioner of immigration in the New England district, has assumed the task of expelling 10,000 aliens from the United States. She is completing an extensive plan for a massive round-up and deportation of many thousands of aliens illegally residing in this section."

"At least 30,000 French-Canadians will either be deported or returned to their native province of Quebec for the middle of next month, it is estimated. The drive is instituted to protect native labor.

"The immigration officials point out that the coming drive against aliens is not directed in any sense at any particular nationality or class."

ASK STATEMENT OF POLICY ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Ottawa.—A demand from different parts of the House of Commons that the government state its policy on unemployment, and a declaration from the prime minister that such a statement would be forthcoming when estimates would be discussed, featured a heated session in parliament.

Mr. Reid understood Canada had referred to coal with Russia for the benefit of its own people and not for the benefit of Wales or Great Britain. No answer came from the government benches and the incident closed.

Instead of visiting complaints with rapier as appears to be feared, the banks will always welcome communications which would enable them to rectify any such error or to explain fully the reasons for their action in not entertaining credit applications."

As indicated by returns from the banks very strongly entrenched in the prairies, loans to farmers by this bank in the end of December 1930, included similar loans at the same date in 1929, by 16%, per cent. Mr. Loman said.

"If instead of returning to the West by picture conditions as bordering on disaster," he added.

The banks would be glad to receive complaints of definite cases in which credit was held up. Only in this way could an error in judgment on the part of the loan manager be corrected, Mr. Loman said.

The latter said a member who stood in the House and said there might be riots was "consciously or unconsciously inciting to riots."

The deputy speaker intervened to say that Mr. Woodsworth must express his own opinion, and the member for North Wilmot said that.

Finally, after further discussion, in the interests of public safety as introduced was put through all stages and passed by the House.

BANKER STATES NO DESIRE TO RESTRICT CREDIT

Montreal.—The banks desire to state that there has been no general withholding of credit and that they are today, as in the past, considering demands from their Western farmer clients and granting advances which appear justified, that is, advances which do not place the principle of loans in jeopardy, upon which there is a fair prospect of receiving interest and which may be repaid before the restricted time."

Beaumy Leman, president of the Canadian Bankers Association and general manager of the Banque Canadienne Nationale, said in a formal statement issued recently.

Interest rates charged were based upon expenses incurred in the loan business. Mr. Leman said. His declaration was inspired by complaints made lately in and out of parliament that banks had closed down on farmer loans or were charging exorbitant rates where loans were authorized.

So far as loans were concerned, he pointed out that banks' functions did not permit them indiscriminately to become "silent partners" of the farmer, that the Bank Act limited loans operations and rightly so, for money loaned was not bank or public funds but the savings of depositors. Loans were available where interest and repayment in a reasonable time were apparent, Mr. Leman said. Interest rates were governed by the business.
